The Leader In Me...

February

Habit 5: Seek First to Understand, Then to Be Understood is the habit of listening to other people's ideas and feelings. It's trying to see things from their viewpoints. I listen to others without interrupting. It's about being confident in voicing your ideas. It's about looking people in the eyes when speaking. Habit 5 is a timeless principle we all strive to teach our kids; it teaches them to be confident when speaking to others while also teaching them the importance of listening to others when they are speaking. Habit 5 is about communication. The best way to teach someone how to communicate is by practicing it with them.

Habits at Home

Examples of how you can practice Habit 5 at home:

- 1) Practice reflective listening. Say something to your kids and then have them repeat back what you said. Do this until you feel like everyone in the family listens without thinking of a response simultaneously.
- 2) Conflict Resolution: The next time there is a problem within the family have the involved parties sit down and listen to the other person's point of view. They have to be able to restate the other person's feelings before they can state theirs or respond to what was said. ("So what I heard you say was...")
- 3) Take family time to learn about other cultures.

School Of Faith

St. Lawrence is implementing the School of Faith model as another dimension of our Catholic identity. This means that we as a school, staff and students strive to demonstrate our faith and belief in God as a Catholic school and community. Our staff is engaging in a guided study of the Catechism of the Catholic Church. We are communally studying and praying with each other using the Bible. We want to challenge our school families to actively engage in living our Catholic faith and Christian identity.

In the Rite of Baptism parents are reminded that when they ask to have their child baptized they are accepting the responsibility of training the child in the practice of the faith. Parents are reminded that it is their duty to bring the child up to keep God's commandments as Christ taught us, by loving God and our neighbor. The lives of the parents and godparents are to be examples of faith to inspire the child. They must make it their constant care to bring the child up in the practice of the faith.

What does it mean to raise a child in the practice of faith? How do we practice our faith? What are the basic expectations that the Catholic Church has for its members in practicing the faith? In what ways does a family share and demonstrate faith? One way is to worship together. Bringing our children to church with us teaches them the value of worship. Hold little ones on your lap and whisper in their ear at the time of the Consecration when the Eucharist is becoming the body, blood, soul and divinity of Christ and Father elevates the Host, "That is Jesus." After mass, have your child tell you what the Gospel was about or what was said in the homily. Make worshiping together a time of warmth and connectedness. Another way is to pray together, say grace before meals, pray together before bed. Let your love for each other be seen. Put your family first, be a sign and a witness.

If your child rides the bus and the bus causes them to be tardy, the tardy will also be excused with no need for a note.

The National Eucharistic Revival has begun! Archbishop Schnurr is inviting all Catholics through their parishes and all Catholic school students grades 6-12 to grow in our understanding and devotion to the Eucharist.

The Archbishop has also provided for a great and easy way to help our students and faculty to grow in meeting Christ in the Eucharist. In the link below, you will find information to a video series called The Mass from Bishop Robert Barron's Word on Fire Ministries. We encourage all teachers and staff to be sent this information, but especially the 6-12 religion teachers so they are able to sign up to receive a weekly email with the video and introduction by Archbishop Schnurr. We encourage all religion teachers set aside one day a week from January 8th-February 12th to watch the video with their students and have a discussion on the Eucharist. (approximately 25 mins per video)

I also encourage you to send this information out to your parents as well so your entire Catholic school community can learn and be invigorated in Christ's Real Presence in the Eucharist!
